USER MANUAL

This application is aimed at catering to those people who want to come together and tread on adventures in Charlotte. Brought to you by Venture Corporations, we aim to provide you a platform where you can leverage the capabilities of the internet, meet people and explore Charlotte like never before! All you need to do is just create a free account on our application, and there you go! You can now check all the activities that are currently going around in Charlotte and also join them if they interest you!

Oftentimes, users are not aware about the interesting things that go around them! Our application provides a means to bridge this gap and an opportunity to meet people and pursue their hobbies of indulging in nature. Our application gives the user the complete freedom to RSVP to the activities that they're interested in. If the user feels differently about attending the event after a point, then they can simply change the RSVP on their profile page. Alternately, they can delete the entire entry of this particular activity. The user can also clear their profile of all the activities that they had RSVPed to previously and start afresh.
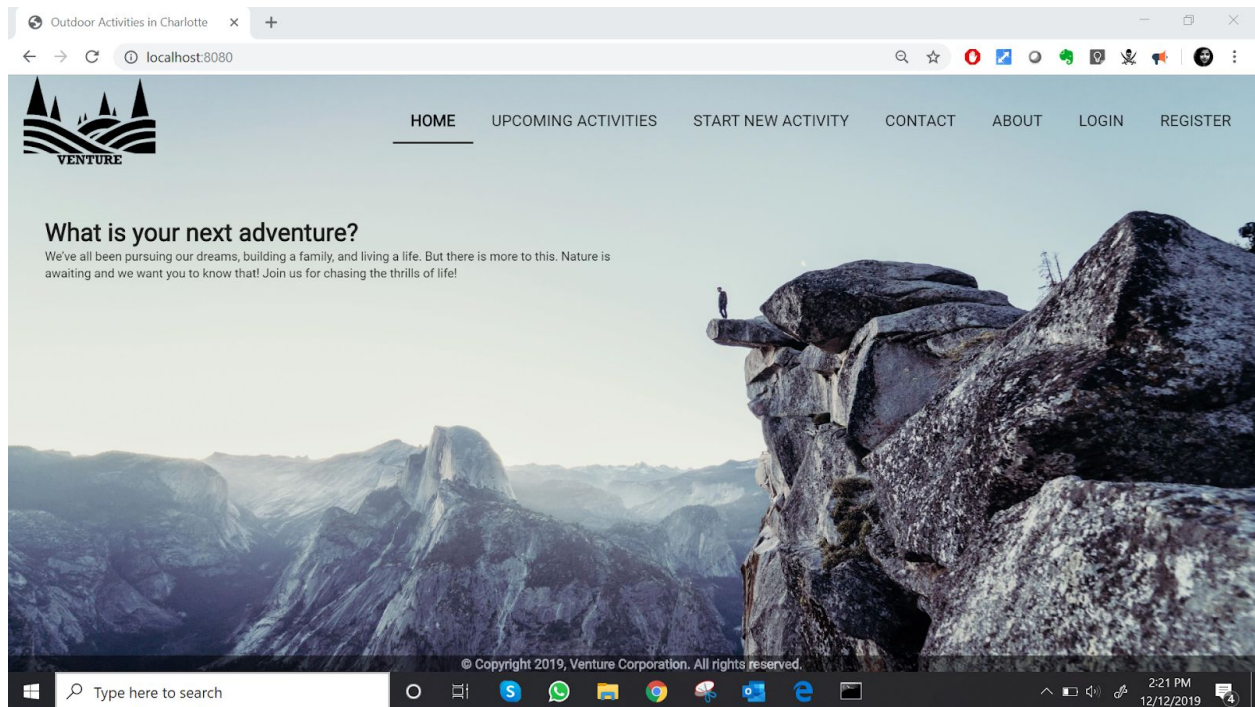

Apart from attending activities, the user can host their own activities to which other users can RSVP and form exciting events. The user also has the liberty to update or delete this activity created by him at any point of time. One updated/deleted, the changes would reflect on the profile of other users.

Please refer to the following table of contents for an effective understanding of what our application does.
